

OUTSTANDING CONSERVATOR STUDENT University of Canberra 2024

The University of Canberra Student Award goes to Michelle Butler. Michelle is an exceptional student who produces work of a very high standard according to her course co-ordinator. She has developed significantly since commencing her studies largely through her own efforts and a willingness to go beyond course requirements. Michelle has worked in a range of professional placements over her time at university and has developed a good understanding of working practices and procedures in her chosen conservation speciality, which is paper.
